TODAY'S READINGS ... FROM THE NEW REVISED STANDARD VERSION BIBLE

Sentence:

God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Spirit and with power;
and he went about doing good and healing
all who were oppressed by the devil,
for God was with him. Acts 10: 38

Collect:

Almighty God,
you have made us for yourself,
and our hearts are restless
till they find their rest in you;
so lead us by your Spirit
that in this life we may live to your glory
and in the life to come enjoy you forever;
through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Isaiah 65: 1-9

- ¹ I was ready to be sought out by those who did not ask, to be found by those who did not seek me.
I said, "Here I am, here I am,"
to a nation that did not call on my name.
- ² I held out my hands all day long to a rebellious people, who walk in a way that is not good, following their own devices;
- ³ a people who provoke me to my face continually, sacrificing in gardens and offering incense on bricks;
- ⁴ who sit inside tombs, and spend the night
in secret places; who eat swine's flesh,
with broth of abominable things in their
vessels;
- ⁵ who say, "Keep to yourself, do not come near me, for I am too holy for you."
These are a smoke in my nostrils,
a fire that burns all day long.
- ⁶ See, it is written before me:
I will not keep silent, but I will repay;
I will indeed repay into their laps
- ⁷ their iniquities and their ancestors'

iniquities together, says the Lord;
because they offered incense on the mountains and reviled me on the hills,
I will measure into their laps
full payment for their actions.

- ⁸ Thus says the Lord:
As the wine is found in the cluster,
and they say, "Do not destroy it,
for there is a blessing in it,"
so I will do for my servants' sake,
and not destroy them all.
- ⁹ I will bring forth descendants from Jacob,
and from Judah inheritors of my
mountains;
my chosen shall inherit it,
and my servants shall settle there.

Psalms 22: 19-28

- ¹⁹ Do not stand far off from me O Lord:
you are my helper,
come quickly to my rescue.
- ²⁰ Deliver me from the sword:
my precious life from the mauling of dogs.
- ²¹ Save me from the lion's mouth:
my afflicted soul from the horns of the wild cattle.
- ²² I will declare your name to my people:
in the midst of the assembly
I will praise you.
- ²³ Give praise all you that fear the Lord:
proclaim God's greatness, all you children
of Jacob, stand in awe all you children
of Israel.
- ²⁴ For you O God have not despised or abhorred the poor in their affliction:
you have not hidden your face from them, but you heard them when they called to you.
- ²⁵ You are the theme of my praise in the full
assembly:
my vows I will perform in the sight of
those who 'fear you.

²⁶The poor shall eat and be satisfied:
those who seek you O Lord shall praise
you, may they be in good heart for ever.

²⁷Let all the ends of the earth remember
and turn to you O Lord:
and let all the families of the nations
bow down before you.

²⁸For yours is the kingdom O Lord:
and you are the ruler over the nations.

Galatians 3: 23-29

²³Now before faith came, we were imprisoned and guarded under the law until faith would be revealed. ²⁴Therefore the law was our disciplinarian until Christ came, so that we might be justified by faith. ²⁵But now that faith has come, we are no longer subject to a disciplinarian, ²⁶for in Christ Jesus you are all children of God through faith.

²⁷As many of you as were baptized into Christ have clothed yourselves with Christ.

²⁸There is no longer Jew or Greek, there is no longer slave or free, there is no longer male and female; for all of you are one in Christ Jesus. ²⁹And if you belong to Christ, then you are Abraham's offspring, heirs according to the promise.

Luke 8: 26-39

²⁶Then they arrived at the country of the Gerasenes, which is opposite Galilee. ²⁷As he stepped out on land, a man of the city who had demons met him. For a long time he had worn no clothes, and he did not live in a house but in the tombs. ²⁸When he saw Jesus, he fell down before him and shouted at the top of his voice, "What have you to do with me, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I beg you, do not torment me"— ²⁹for Jesus had commanded the unclean spirit to come out of the man. (For many times it had seized him; he was kept under guard and bound with chains and shackles, but he would break the bonds and be driven by the demon into the wilds.) ³⁰Jesus then asked him, "What is your name?" He said, "Legion"; for many demons had entered him. ³¹They begged him not to order them to go back into the abyss.

³²Now there on the hillside a large herd of swine was feeding; and the demons begged Jesus to let them enter these. So he gave them permission. ³³Then the demons came out of the man and entered the swine, and the herd rushed down the steep bank into the lake and was drowned.

³⁴When the swineherds saw what had happened, they ran off and told it in the city and in the country. ³⁵Then people came out to see what had happened, and when they came to Jesus, they found the man from whom the demons had gone sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed and in his right mind. And they were afraid. ³⁶Those who had seen it told them how the one who had been possessed by demons had been healed.

³⁷Then all the people of the surrounding country of the Gerasenes asked Jesus to leave them; for they were seized with great fear. So he got into the boat and returned.

³⁸The man from whom the demons had gone begged that he might be with him; but Jesus sent him away, saying, ³⁹"Return to your home, and declare how much God has done for you." So he went away, proclaiming throughout the city how much Jesus had done for him.

FROM THE ANGLICAN NEWS SERVICE ...

Anglican and Roman Catholic leaders were joined by senior figures from other Christian denominations last night at a special choral evensong in Westminster Abbey to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Anglican Centre in Rome.

Anglican, Catholic and Orthodox Church leaders were present at the service, which was sung by the Westminster Abbey Choir. In his sermon, Archbishop of Canterbury Justin Welby praised the work of the Centre, and its director, Archbishop David Moxon, joking that the centre was seen by some as the Anglican Communion's spy station in Rome.

"Those are the first time I heard those words this evening," Archbishop David told ACNS afterwards, "but I think in terms of intelligent reporting, in terms of a careful look at each other, in terms of good communication and awareness of each other, it is a humorous and anecdotal description which I enjoy."

The service, he said, summed up "50 years of faith, hope and love", and he added: "The Anglican Centre is a bit like a fiddler on the roof: it needs funding every year, it can't guarantee its existence, but it tries to play a tune of faith, hope, love; to try to suggest that what unites us is greater than what divides us. That's the point. "And we stand on that roof, playing that tune, saying to people 'look up! The Holy Spirit is trying to build bridges all the time.' We are part of that process, part of that energy," he said, adding that God gives the courage and hope needed to build bridges between the denominations.

"Sometimes people get a little cynical about ecumenism. Sometimes they wonder what the point is," he said.

"But living and working in Rome you can see the point. And now, especially, with this Pontificate – with Pope Francis and with Archbishop Justin – there is all kinds of evidence that it is worth it.

"The Pope and Archbishop Justin are saying Let's behave as if we are one where we can, even though we haven't agreed on everything. And in some cases the differences seem quite significant, but let's behave as if we are one for the sake of the Kingdom of God, for justice and peace."

He said that collaborative work on issues of justice, people trafficking, refugees and city missions were "all ways in which the world needs our solidarity, our co-operation [and] our partnership."

This was, he said, a new kind of ecumenism which was driven by mission.

"Rather than just trying to close the dogmatic gaps – which are important to close – these two [Pope Francis and Archbishop Justin] are saying let's generate a sense of communion now, where we can, on the ground.

"The more you walk together the better you talk together. A lot of people think you can only walk together once you have talked together enough.

I think it is often the other way around."

This service was one of a number being held this year to mark the 50th anniversary of the centre.

In October, a €500-per-head (approximately £395 GBP) two-day gala meeting will be held at the centre. The proceeds will be used to create an endowment fund to secure the continued presence of the Anglican Communion's permanent representation to the Holy See.

FROM THE ANGLICAN NEWS SERVICE ...

The long-planned Holy and Great Council of the Orthodox churches is getting underway in Crete; despite the absence of a number of churches over un-resolved differences. The Archbishop of Canterbury, Justin Welby, has urged Anglicans to pray for the gathering.

It is the first Holy and Great Council of the self-governing Orthodox churches in more than 1,000 years. The last recognised Council took place in AD787 before the Great Schism between the Orthodox and Roman Catholic churches. Agenda planning for this month's meeting has been taking place for over half a century.

The Ecumenical Patriarch, His All Holiness Bartholomew, arrived in Crete on Wednesday. Many more Primates and leaders of the Orthodox churches arrived on Thursday for the historic meeting which is taking place at the Orthodox Academy of Crete.

The World Council of Churches' (WCC) general secretary, the Revd Dr Olav Fykse Tveit, will join the gathered Primates and church leaders for the Orthodox Pentecost celebrations on Sunday. The WCC report that "Several churches recently decided not to attend the council, citing unresolved issues with the planned documents brought for approval, as well as other unresolved issues, though the situation remains fluid."

Organisers have invited those churches unhappy with the meeting to gather for a pre-conciliar meeting tomorrow before the Council formally gets underway after Pentecost.

Items expected to be discussed during the meeting, which continues until 27 June, include contemporary mission, marriage regulations, fasting guidelines, the place of Orthodox churches outside their historic venues, and ecumenical relations with non-Orthodox churches.

In a message to Anglican Primates earlier this year, Archbishop Welby said that he had assured Patriarch Bartholomew of his prayers and asked for Anglicans around the Communion to pray for the gathering.

"At the Primates' meeting and gathering in Canterbury this past January, all of us who were there were deeply aware of the prayers for our work not only from Anglicans around the world, but also from our ecumenical friends," Archbishop Welby said. "The many messages and gestures of prayerful support received from leaders and other Christians was one of the many graces of that time in Canterbury."

He continued: "I most respectfully request that you and Anglicans around the world join me in prayer for the guidance and blessing of the Holy Spirit upon the leaders of Orthodox Church. . . Remember them in your daily prayers. Pray for them especially at the celebrations of the Holy Eucharist in cathedral, parish, monastic and other communities.

Such prayer for one another is most effective, and is a profound expression of love and solidarity within the Body of Christ."
